

COUNSEL FOR SULZER LOSE FIRST SKIRMISH

Their Objections to Permitting
Four Senators to Sit as Members of Court Overruled

NEXT ATTACK VALIDITY

Failure to Complete Argument When Adjournment Was Taken Until Monday
Precluded Decision in Matter

FIGHT FOR ADDITIONAL CHARGES

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Counsel for William Sulzer lost the first skirmish in a legal battle they began today at the second session of the high court of impeachment, to prevent the accused legislative from coming to trial. Their objections to permitting four senators to sit as members of the court were over-ruled.

The next attacked the validity of the impeachment with a motion to dismiss the proceedings, but failure to complete their argument when adjournment was taken until Monday
precluded a decision in the matter.

Assembly recesses until Thursday.
After striving futilely from noon until 7:20 tonight to obtain enough Anti-Sulzer votes to insure the passage of additional impeachment
charges on motion of Majority Leader Levy the assembly recessed until next Thursday. The fight for additional charges will be resumed immediately on the convening of the assembly and meanwhile the Democratic leaders will use every means to obtain a full attendance.

It is generally understood that the charges were given over to legal argument and indications were tonight that Monday and Tuesday would be similarly occupied, precluding the calling of witnesses until Wednesday.

Challenge Rights of Senators.
After the adoption today of rules of procedure, D. Cady Herick, chief counsel for the governor, formally challenged the right of senators Frawley, Ramsperger, Sanner and Wagner to sit as members of the court—the first three on the ground that they were members of the Frawley investigating committee on whose report the articles of impeachment
were based, Senator Wagner, president pro-tempore of the senate on the ground that in the event of the conviction of the governor he would succeed to "the profit and emoluments of the office of lieutenant governor."

Judge Herick read a long brief in support of his contention, to which Judge Alton B. Parker, chief counsel for the managers, replied, holding that the court had no power under the constitution to exclude any of its members. This argument presiding Judge Cullen upheld.

Judge Cullen however, put the challenge to the vote of the court
with the result that with the exception of the four senators involved,
who asked to be excused from voting, the thirty members present unanimously decided against the counsel for the governor.

Motion to Dismiss Impeachment.
A motion to dismiss the impeachment precipitated the second contest. It was made by Attorney Louis Marshall, who spent practically the whole afternoon session in reading
a brief purporting to show that the impeachment was unconstitutional,
based on the fact that it was brought
while the assembly was in extraordinary session and entitled to act separately on matters presented to it by the governor.

Mr. Marshall's argument will be arrested, according to present plans
by Judge Parker for the managers.
In event the court again rules against the governor, according to plans outlined tonight D. Cady Herick will move to strike out the first, second and sixth articles of impeachment on the ground that they pertain to acts committed by the governor before he took the oath of office and are not within the jurisdiction of the court. These articles all have to do with the governor's campaign contributions, the act of perjury he is alleged to have committed in failing to include certain contributions in his sworn report and the act of larceny in the alleged use of omitted
contributions for speculation in Wall street.

Richard to Open for Prosecution.
These legal battles disposed of,
probably by Wednesday the case for prosecution will be opened by Eugene Lamb Richards, counsel for the Frawley committee who will outline the evidence. The taking of testimony will follow immediately.

James C. Garrison, friend of the governor and his so-called graft investigator who was sent to jail by the assembly early today to serve until expiration of the present session for alleged contempt of that body, engaged counsel to obtain his release but no action in that direction was taken. Application for writ of habeas corpus will be made tomorrow.

SLAYER HANS SCHMIDT ASKS FOR QUICK DEATH

DECLARES HE WANTS TO GO TO THE ELECTRIC CHAIR

Renegade Priest Says He Is a Believer in Euthanasia—Detectives
Discover Book of Physician's Death Certificates—Have Fifty Clues.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Hans Schmidt, slayer of Anna Ammiller,
asked for quick death in a statement today. "The district attorney wants me to go to the electric chair and I want to go," he said. "What's the use of delaying?"

Schmidt afterward expressed expressed ideas on the taking of human life that filled in with the theory of Inspector Faurot, in charge of the murder investigation, that the renegade priest might have been planning a series of homicides. He declared himself a believer in euthanasia and that he would be doing right in taking the lives of the crippled and of persons undergoing mental or physical suffering. Detectives who talked with him this afternoon reported.

"I believe I would be carrying out God's will," Schmidt said, "if I put out of this world, all such people. I would end their lives without their suffering any pain."

Faurot's suspicions of Schmidt's possible homicide plans were strengthened by the discovery
among Schmidt's effects a book of physician's death certificates and other blanks necessary in disposing of the dead. Schmidt declared these were only for use in the case of Anna Ammiller. He had stolen the certificates from a reputable physician up town, he told the detectives, because he had intended to kill the girl in a way that would make it appear she had died a natural death.
But afterwards he had decided to cut her throat and dispose of her body as best he could.

"Schmidt's papers have given us
fifty clues," Faurot said today, "any one of which is liable to turn up something new about his activities.
His industry was amazing and his resourcefulness wonderful. But I am unable to say now whether we caught him at the beginning or at the end of a series of homicides."

The parts of Anna Ammiller's body that were picked up in the Hudson river and kept in Holoken for the inquest of the New Jersey authorities, held last night, were brought to this city today and placed in the Bellevue morgue.

MAKING EFFORT TO EXPIDITE ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION

Attorney General McReynolds Will Utilize Services of U. S. Attorneys
Throughout the Country.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Attorney General McReynolds is making a vigorous effort to expedite pending anti-trust legislation and to keep abreast with all current complaints
of violations of the Sherman law.
As a step in that direction the Attorney General has decided to utilize to the fullest extent possible the services of United States attorneys throughout the country instead of largely confining trust inquiries as has been the custom to the few special assistants in the department of justice. The plan is to re-inforce
the staff of special anti-trust lawyers in the department with the services of the United States attorneys.
As new charges of monopoly and restraint of trade are received they will be referred in many instances to conveniently located United States attorneys equipped to undertake investigations.

In that way it is expected the antitrust work which is growing fast will be conveniently distributed and the crowded conditions at Washington relieved.

RAIN FLOODS STREETS.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 19.—A rain storm, accompanied by a high wind flooded the streets and the basements of many buildings in this city late this afternoon. Ninety-one hundredths of an inch of rain fell in ten minutes, according to the reports of the government weather bureau.
In some parts of the business center, immediately after the downpour water three feet deep rushed through the streets.

Sulzer Recognizes Glynn.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Governor
Sulzer today for the first time formally recognized the right of Lieutenant Governor Glynn to exercise the prerogatives of the chief legislative of the state pending
the determination of the impeachment charges. On the advice of counsel a request for the extradition of a prisoner, received by the impeached legislator, was turned over to Acting Governor Glynn.

The prisoner referred to is Moses Gutman, whose extradition is sought
as a fugitive from justice from New York state, under arrest at Chilli.

AMERICAN YOUTH TIES WITH ENGLISH GOLFERS

FRANCIS OUIMET TIES EXPERTS, VARDON AND RAY

Lad Will Be America's Representative in Eighteen holes Three Ball Medal Play Off Tie Which Now Exists Between the Three Players.

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 19.—An American youth—a stripling scarcely out of his teens—carved a niche for himself in international sporting history here today when Francis Ouimet tied with England's famous professional golfers, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, in the final round of the national open championship. As the result of his exhibition of nerve and golfing skill he will be America's representative in 18 holes three ball medal play off tie which exists tonight between the trio, each of whom turned in a card of 294 for 72 holes
contested during the past two days.
Ouimet's performance today lifted
the nineteenth annual open tournament of the United States Golf association out of the usual classification and brought the contest to a standard little short of other international competitions. Of the half dozen home bred and transplanted professionals not one could keep pace with Ray and Vardon and all hope of retaining the title honors appeared lost until Ouimet was found making his lone stand mid rain and mud against the two older players.

Spectators Cheer American.
When the 5,000 spectators realized
that in this home bred amateur rested America's chance of winning the championship, they lost that placid attitude and whisper that ordinarily marks the golf gallery and rooted and cheered Ouimet in a manner they practiced at baseball and football.
The scenes that attended Ouimet's march over the last four holes have never been equalled on an American European golf course and when the ball finally rolled to the eighteenth hole, curled around the lip for an inch or so and then dropped in for the four which tied him with Ray and Vardon, a tremendous yell went up. The gallery swept past ropes and guards and closed in on Ouimet in a solid phalanx. He was lifted to the shoulders of the advance guards
and carried toward the clubhouse
surrounded by several thousand cheering, yelling golfers who forgot their golf in the enthusiasm of believing that an American was achieving an American victory.

Ouimet's great battle against the prowess of the two Englishmen, who were already tied with 304 before he had half finished his final round, was all the more praiseworthy because of the frightful weather conditions
under which he was obliged to play.
Rain fell all day. The fair ways and greens were water soaked. It was hard on the English players, but worse for the Americans since Ray and Vardon in particular have played many matches under similar trying conditions. The rain beat the ball down during flights from the tee
and the heavy turf took all the roll out of the ball, giving long drives of the Ray and Vardon type an advantage not be lightly passed.

FORMER CHINESE PRESIDENT TRAVELLING DISGUISED IN U. S.

Dr. Sun, Now in British Columbia,
Does Not Feel Safe in Disclosing
His Identity.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 19.—Travelling incognito as Wong Kwok Yin, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, former provisional president of the Chinese republic and leader of the movement which overthrew the Manchus and in the recent revolt against President Yuan Shi Kai, is said to be in Vancouver.
He was recognized by compatriots
in spite of the fact that his appearance has been altered by shaving off his mustache, and is said to be enroute to England.

It is asserted Dr. Sun Yat Sen landed at Victoria from Japan on the last trip. He remained in Victoria for some days with friends and later attempted to enter the United States disguised as a Japanese student, but was refused admittance.
The impression here is that Dr.
Sun does not feel secure in disclosing his identity among his fellow countrymen in British Columbia who are nearly all supporters of President Yuan.

TWO KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 19.—Two laborers are known to have been killed by the premature discharge of dynamite in blasting operations at Flat Rock near here this afternoon. A third is missing and is believed to have suffered the same fate while a fourth was fatally injured. James Gooch and a man named Foster are known to be dead.

TARIFF SUBJECTS BRING DEADLOCKS

Hopes of Reaching Complete Agreement in Next Few Weeks Go Glimmering

ALL SIDES APPEAL TO WILSON

Representative Underwood Expresses Hopes That by Tonight All the Taxing Features Might Be Settled

SENATOR SIMMONS NOT SO HOPEFUL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Hope of the conferees of the house and senate
to reach a complete agreement
in the next few weeks on the tariff bill went glimmering today when the conference adjourned until tomorrow with about eighteen questions still in disagreement. Half a dozen of the subjects have produced determined deadlocks, with all sides appealing to President Wilson for assistance. Representative Underwood expressed the hope tonight
that by tomorrow night all the taxing features might be agreed upon.
Senator Simmons was not so hopeful, stating that it would take two or three days next week probably
before the bill was completed.

At this morning's session of the conferees it was agreed to free list compromised on the house rates on angora wool and mohair which had been free listed. In the afternoon disputes over works of art, fur and leather were disposed of, works of art were put on the free list practically as originally proposed by the house and without certain senate restrictions furs, dressed and undress-ed, were free-listed, the house receding from its demand for duties ranging from 10 to 40 per cent and leather was free listed with the exception of a 10 per cent duty on enameled upholstery leather. The house had put leather generally on the free list and the senate's amendment made them dutiable at 10 per cent.

Close tabulations have been kept
of the effect of the various amendments adopted on the revenue to be produced by the measure. Excerpts tonight informed Senator Simmons that as at present drawn and agreed to the bill will produce an income that should give the government a surplus of $16,000,000 in a normal year.

GARDNER CHOSEN COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF GRAND ARMY

Detroit, Mich., Is Selected as Place
For the 1914 Encampment—Other Officers Elected.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 19.—
Former United States congressman
Washington Gardner, of Albion, Mich., today was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the final business session of the 47th annual encampment.
Detroit, Mich., earlier in the day was selected as the meeting place for the 1914 encampment. Other officers elected by the national organization
were Thomas H. Seward, Guthrie, Okla., Senior Vice Commander; William L. Roe, Pittsfield, Maine, Junior Vice Commander; J. K. Weaver, Morristown, Tenn., Surgeon General;
and Horace M. Carr, Carsons, Kan., Chaplain General.

Immediately after the election of officers was completed the commander-in-chief announced the appointment of Oscar A. James, Detroit, Mich., as adjutant general and Col.
D. R. Stowitz, of Buffalo, N. Y., as Quarter-master General.

Only delegates were admitted to any of the official sessions of the encampment but it is understood that Commander Gardner, earlier in the day
opponent during the balloting was Col.
C. E. Adams, of Superior, Neb.

A general exodus of veterans and delegates attending the sessions of the allied organizations began tonight.

FORMER HOSPITAL WARDEN FREED OF RESPONSIBILITY

Former Warden Bailey of Chicago Is Cleared of Charges by President
McCormick.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Former Warden
Bailey was today freed of any responsibility in connection with the charges that bodies of unclaimed
dead were sold by the county hospital for $2 each and no accounting
made for the $2,000 or more a year
obtained from their sale. President
A. A. McCormick of the county commission said that there was no
ground for bringing any accusations against Mr. Bailey in that matter.

Dr. L. C. Borland, president of the Illinois Demonstrators' association, which took all the unclaimed bodies
from the county hospital, said today that nothing ever was paid for the bodies. The matter of their disposition still is under investigation.

WILL FILE FOR PROBATE.

St. Louis, Sept. 19.—The will of F. A. Steer, local merchant who died in London while touring Europe several months ago, was filed for probate here today and distributes equally among his three daughters the bulk of his $500,000 estate. To his son, William C. Steer, the testator left a life interest in $60,000 to be held in trust for him by Leahy.

REYES TAKES REFUGE IN AMERICAN EMBASSY

DEPUTY FEARS TO RESPOND TO CALL FROM PRESIDENT HUERTA

Was One of Several Who Opposed Appointment of Tamariz—Administration Will Not Withdraw Envoys List.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 19.— Fearing to respond to a call from President Huerta to come to the national palace last night, Deputy Rodolfo Reyes, former minister of Justice, passed half the night in the American embassy. Senior Reyes was one of the several deputies heading the opposition in the chamber of deputies to the appointment of Eduardo Tamariz as minister of public instruction.

After adjournment of the chamber
President Huerta summoned Senior Reyes and Deputy Drueta to a conference in the palace. Instead of complying, however, Reyes took refuge in the embassy until he had ascertained the nature of the summons.

Foreign Minister Gamboa appeared in the chamber of deputies today
and endeavored to explain that the naming of Tamariz established no precedent since Pedro Lascurain, a prominent Catholic, had held the portfolio of foreign relations under President Madero. The deputies have, however, by approximately the same vote as the first, denied Senor Gamboa's permission to proceed with his explanation. Senor Tamariz will not assume the office of minister of public instruction pending an adjustment of the situation.

Will Not Withdraw List.

Vera Cruz, Sept. 19.—It is assumed here that while the Washington administration is willing to give President Huerta the benefit of the doubt regarding his intention to hold
a presidential election next month, John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, will not be withdrawn from Mexico until after the election and possibly not until he has witnessed the character of the reception given the newly elected legislative. It is believed that there will be no radical change in the situation for some weeks but nevertheless
Mr. Lind is closely watching events.

Bryan Denies Appeal.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Secretary Bryan today denied the appeal of refugees who recently arrived at San Diego, Calif., from Mexico, asking that they be sent back at government expense. The secretary telegraphed the Red Cross at San Diego
to that effect.

Trial Transferred to Pearsall.
Carizzo Springs, Texas, Sept. 19.—
The trial of fourteen alleged ammunition smugglers charged with the murder of Posseman Candelario Ortiz, was today transferred to Pearsall, Texas, because of the improbability of securing a jury here.

DEMOCRATS ADOPT BODILY REPUBLICAN FOREIGN POLICY

London Spectator Summarizes Work of President Wilson's Administration.

London, Sept. 20.—"There is now
a national foreign policy in the United States which may be called imperialistic, or not, as one chooses,"
says the Spectator today in summarizing the work of President Wilson's administration. Crediting President Roosevelt with extending the Monroe doctrine so as to establish protection over Santo Domingo and Honduras, the Spectator adds:
"The treaty with Nicaragua,
which Mr. Bryan hopes to get ratified, means that the Democrats have adopted bodily the foreign policy of the Republicans. It seemed unlikely that such a thing could ever happen, but the character of the Nicaragua treaty leaves us in no doubt."

"The immediate motive for this national foreign policy is, of course, to be found in the Panama canal. It is convenient for the United States, which has to protect the canal, that the Caribbean sea should be as far as possible an American sea."

AGED CLERGYMAN INDICTED ON TEN ADDITIONAL COUNTS

Four Counts Against Mattoon Preacher Are For Embezzlement—Son
Also Indicted.

Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 19.—The Rev.
U. T. S. Rice, the aged clergyman and loan broker whose financial operations here involved him in difficulties within the last few weeks was indicted on ten additional counts by the grand jury today. Four of the counts were for embezzlement, four for obtaining money under false pretenses and two for conducting a confidence game. Ball was fixed at $8-500. Walter Rice, son of the clergyman also was indicted on a confidence game charge. His ball was placed at $500. He gave bonds. The elder Rice is in a sanitarium at Charleston, Ill., under guard.

WOMAN GETS 25 YEARS.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 19.—
Judge J. W. Jones in circuit court
this afternoon sentenced Mrs. Mae Evans to twenty-five years imprisonment in the state penitentiary for the killing here on May 26 of Dr. E.
Moore, a professor in the State Agricultural college at Brookings and formerly state veterinarian. The tragedy was due to jealousy. Mrs.
Evans entered a plea of guilty of manslaughter.

TWO MURDERED AND ONE WOUNDED IN GARAGE

SAN FRANCISCO BUSINESS MAN AR-RESTED, FOR THE SHOOTING

Tragedy Follows Automobile Ride to a Beach Resort and a Carousal in Garage—Jealousy Given as Cause by Woman.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—William Acker, a chauffeur, and George Kovack, watchman in a downtown garage, were shot and killed and Mrs. Kate Gallagher was dangerously wounded at an early hour today
as the sequel to an automobile ride
to a beach resort, followed by a carousal in the garage. A. R. Coun-son, proprietor of one of the largest poultry supply houses, was arrested
tonight, charged with the shooting.
No one but the trio that formed the automobile party was in the garage when the murderer entered.
Mrs. Gallagher was found some time later on the street, where she had fallen and before lapsing into unconsciousness declared Counson had shot her. She fainted before she could tell where the shooting had taken place, but the trail of blood
she had left was traced to the garage
where the dead men lay.

Acker, the chauffeur, had been killed as he leaned against his motor car. Kovack, it was learned later from the woman, was shot in the garage office while he had fled from the murderer.

Counson's wife was committed to a state asylum for the insane about five years ago and since then he and Mrs. Gallagher had lived together, according to the woman's statement.
That he was insanely jealous of her
was her explanation of the tragedy.

SUBMIT INVOLUNTARY PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

Attorneys For Henry J. Funk of Belleville File Petition at Danville
—Banker's Liabilities May Reach $300,000.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19.—Attorneys for East St. Louis creditors of Henry J. Funk, the Belleville, Ill., private banker who is out on bond
on charges of embezzlement, today
sent to Danville, Illinois, an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against Funk. The petition is to be filed in the Federal Courts at Danville.

The attorneys decided to file the suit after they had received a letter from Funk, the contents of which were not made public.
The petition says Funk's liabilities
may reach $300,000 and charges
that he disposed of bonds and notes
for the firm of Luff and Beckwith, of East St. Louis, for which he has given no accounting. These debts it is stated aggregate $7,000. It also is charged that John B. Sisking, of East St. Louis, placed with Funk negotiable paper worth $12,000
which has not been accounted for.

Funk is accused of an act of bankruptcy in making a preferred
creditor of Fred Ziegenhein of East St. Louis, who is on Funk's bond in the embezzlement charges.

LARGE NUMBER ATTEND LAST MEETING OF WEEK

Many Hear Dr. Rees Speak on New Birth Friday Evening—Next Service, Men's Meeting Sunday Afternoon.

The largest crowd in attendance since Sunday gathered in the tent Friday evening to hear Dr. Rees discuss the "Greatest Interview Recorded in History," the meeting by night between the Savior and Nicodemus, in which the latter learns the necessity for his salvation of the new birth. The next service will be the great mass meeting for men at 7 tomorrow, when Dr. Rees will speak on "Man's Greatest Problem."

"The Greatest Interview Recorded in History" was the subject of Dr. Rees' discourse last night, who based his subject on the scriptural text, John 3-16, "Marvel not that I say unto thee, ye must be born again." He said in part: "In this third chapter of John we meet a wealthy Hebrew theologian on the one hand and the Lord of Glory on the other. These were engaged in discussing the most momentous question that can come to the human understanding. What is to be born again? Much has been made of Nicodemus coming to Jesus by night, but it makes but little difference when you come, providing you come, whether you come by day or by night. Now, there are several things in this interview that are most essential for us to consider. 'First, ye must be born.' The first thing that Jesus tells Nicodemus about being born is that he must be born to see. Christianity is not assent to a doctrine or to a creed. It is life. The second thing that Jesus tells Nicodemus is that he must be born to enter. Jesus taught that which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the spirit is spirit.

Secondly, what is the new birth? It is not reading the Bible; it is not praying; it is not baptism; it is not confession; it is not church membership; it is not participating in the Lord's supper; and it is not doing your best. These things are not the end but only the means of grace. These things are the means of procuring our way into the kingdom. They help us to open the heart.

How does the new birth take place? Jesus says "The wind bloweth and thou hearest the sound thereof and cannot tell whence it cometh and whither it goeth. So is everyone that is born of the spirit." Notes.

The revival orchestra will be organized tomorrow with a view to aiding the music, beginning Monday evening. The musicians who have volunteered their services as well as any who may yet do so are requested to meet with the pianist, J. Philip Reed Sunday at 7 o'clock in the tent.

Although the seventy members of the choir did excellent work last night, those who were so seated as to observe the amount of room at the back of the platform could not help wondering what the music might have been with a singer in each of the hundred and fifty chairs provided. The continued cool weather promised by the rain of last night will be especially appreciated by those who sing in the choir next week.

With the organization after the service of the membership of Northminster church into groups, eighty units for Christian work have been established to aid the evangelist to bring a religious awakening to Jacksonville.

A number of extra chairs have been ordered for Sunday evening. These will be placed around the edges and just outside the tent so a much larger audience than usual can be seated.

The Rev. W. H. Dickman of Carrollton, who dismissed the audience yesterday, was among the visitors from out of the city, as was W. A. Simmons, of Kirkwood, Mo. Mr. Simmons is the father of Bert Simmons, formerly of this city.

Grace church was well filled Friday at 7 o'clock by the thirty group who have chosen that building as their place of meeting.

Among the most interesting talks of the revival was the address to the young people Friday afternoon. The subject of the sermon was "Gardens," and was especially enjoyed by the school children present by reason of the illustrations.

"Pray fifteen minutes tomorrow for the success of the meeting," was the request of Dr. Rees as he closed his remarks Friday. He said that although interest seemed to be increasing, the best results could not be expected without consistent prayer.

FENCE CUTTING TRIAL
MOVES SLOWLY ALONG

Examination of Witnesses in Loneragan Case Not Yet Finished—Talk About Hounds and Their Uses Interests.

The case against James Loneragan charged with malicious mischief is still on trial before Judge Brockhouse and the taking of testimony has not yet been concluded. Among the witnesses heard during Friday were Thomas Winters, John Mason, John Winters, Thomas Oxley, William True, W. E. McLaughlin of Panola and H. G. Strumpler of Decatur.

Particular interest attached to the testimony of Messrs. McLaughlin and Strumpler with reference to the value of hounds in tracing down evil doers. McLaughlin, who is an experienced dog trainer, brought Mr. Strumpler's hounds to this county in an effort to trace the person who cut the fence, which has occasioned the present trial. Mr. Strumpler's testimony also had special interest as he told of the characteristics of hounds and of the difference between the Russian and the English breeds. He has been a breeder of hounds for thirty years and is a most excellent authority. For years he has made it a business to furnish hounds for tracking down any alleged criminal.

The testimony of the other witness examined did not cover any special points of interest other than those before brought out.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.
THE MANAGEMENT OF THIS STORE DESIRES TO EXPRESS SINCERE APPRECIATION TO THE VAST NUMBER OF LADIES OF JACKSONVILLE AND VICINITY WHO VISITED THIS ESTABLISHMENT ON THURSDAY. NEVER BEFORE IN OUR LONG MERCHANDISING EXPERIENCE IN JACKSONVILLE HAVE LADIES BEEN SO PROFUSE IN THEIR COMPLIMENTS UPON OUR MILLINERY AND READY-TO-WEAR OFFERINGS AND WE BELIEVE THAT EACH VISITOR REALIZED FULLY THAT WITH EVEN A GREATER DEGREE THAN USUAL SUCCESS HAS CROWNED OUR EFFORTS TO DISPLAY IN JACKSONVILLE THE VERY LATEST AND MOST CORRECT STYLES IN MILLINERY AND READY-TO-WEAR GARMENTS.

RETURNS FROM HOT SPRINGS.
Frank Ratachak, who has been at Hot Springs, Ark., for the past ten weeks, returned home last night over the Alton. He enjoyed his stay there very much, despite the hot summer weather, and returns in good health. He was in Hot Springs when the great fire swept the city which destroyed nearly $5,000,000 worth of property. A section of the city a mile and a half long was consumed, the fire raging from 2:30 in the afternoon till midnight the same day. The water works of the city gave out and there was nothing with which to fight the flames. Mr. Ratachak says the business men are starting to build again and the street car system which has been out of order since the fire will resume operations by next week.

WILL NOT ASK MRS. PANKHURST TO ADDRESS EVANSTON ASSOCIATION

Members Believe That Visit of English Woman Will Harm Movement in Middle and Far Western States.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English suffragist leader, will not be asked to speak before the Evanston Equal Suffrage association in the event she comes to Chicago on her visit to the United States. This was decided tonight at a meeting of the association.

The members also expressed themselves as of the belief that Mrs. Pankhurst's visit will harm the suffrage movement in the middle and far western states, because of the militant tactics of the English women.

"The defeat of suffrage in Michigan recently, I believe was partly due to reading of the acts of English suffrage leaders," said Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, president of the Evanston association. "We decided that it would not be a wise move to ask Mrs. Pankhurst to speak here."

ORDERS RECEIVERS TO REOPEN MINES OF DEFUNCT COMPANIES

Fred A. Busse and T. J. O'Gara Named Auxiliary Receivers of Middle States Coal Company and Vivian Collieries Company.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 19.—On petition of the American Powder Mills company, Chicago, creditors of the alleged bankrupt Middle States Coal company and the Vivian Collieries company, United States District Judge J. Otis Humphrey today named Fred A. Busse and Thomas J. O'Gara auxiliary receivers, with instructions to continue the operation of the coal mines of the two defunct companies, pending further orders from the courts.

Both companies operate mines near Springfield and at Greenridge, Macoupin county. Under the orders of Judge Humphrey the receivers will re-open the mines, which were closed when the bankruptcy petitions were filed, and continue their operations.

STRIKEBREAKERS

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 19.—Members of the Western Federation of Miners tried today to induce strikebreakers at the Quincy Mining company to leave the strike district, offering, it is said, transportation and $50 for each to leave. Fourteen accepted the proposition but refused to leave when the money was not forthcoming.

John A. Moffit of the federal department of labor, who is trying to end the strike, has received no reply from the operators to his proposition for arbitration by a non-partisan board.

ASK JUDGE TO RESIGN.

Nome, Alaska, Sept. 19.—United States District Judge Cornelius D. Murnane has been asked by the department of justice to resign. The term of office for which he was appointed has one year more to run. It is also said that United States District Attorney Bernard S. Rodeyk, who was formerly delegate to congress from New Mexico and federal judge in Porto Rico, has been asked to resign.

Charges against Judge Murnane are alleged to have been filed in Washington by representatives of large gold dredging interests of Nome.

MISS PEARY ENGAGED.

New York, Sept. 19.—There reached here from St. Johns, Newfoundland, tonight the report of the engagement of Miss Marie Peary, daughter of Rear Admiral Peary to Donald MacMillan, who accompanied Peary in his dash to the pole.

Miss Peary is the "snow bird" of the Esquimaux, who bestowed that title upon her shortly after her birth farther north than any other white child in the world, her mother being the first white woman to winter with an arctic expedition.

ABANDON HOPE OF

Denver, Colo., Sept. 19.—Hope of averting the strike called for next Tuesday in the southern Colorado coal fields was abandoned by the state administration today, according to a statement given out by the labor commission. Both the miners and the operators have pointedly refused the state's request for mediation under the special arbitration laws and the state has no further action which it officially can take.

ATTEMPTS TO BREAK WILL.

St. Louis, Sept. 19.—George A. Miller filed suit in the circuit court here today to break the will of his father, the late Alfred A. Miller, who was purchasing agent for the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad.

The will left the bulk of the $200,000 estate to the widow, the children getting one dollar each. Undue influence by his wife is charged in the petition.

FINE PINE GROVE BURNED

Banning, Cal., Sept. 19.—One of the finest pine groves in the Cleveland National Forest and a portion of the waters from which the Redlands, River Side and San Bernardino citrus fruit growers obtain their irrigation supplies, was destroyed today by a forest fire which after three days progress reached the south fork of the Santa Ana river. There are three distinct fires, one threatening Seven Oaks mountain resort.

CONSERVATION OF WATER POWER SITES TO BE OUTLINED

Governor Dunne Will Address Gathering in Legislative Office in State House This Morning.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 19.—Conservation of water power sites along the Illinois and Michigan canal will be outlined tomorrow morning by Governor Dunne at a meeting of the Canal Commissioners, members of the Chicago Sanitary District Board of Trustees, representatives of the Economy Light and Power company and other interested parties, which will be held at 10 o'clock in the legislative office at the state house.

Leases of power sites, which expire in the next two years and their possible renewal, the injunction suit filed by Judge Richard Burke, restraining the canal commissioners from using funds recently appropriated to improve the canal, and the general subject of conservation will be matters discussed at the meeting. Governor Dunne is strongly in favor of conserving the valuable power sites along the Desplaines and Illinois rivers to the people of the state to the end that the public derive the greatest possible benefit from such resources.

A CITY IN A GORGE.

The First View of La Paz Is Startling to the Tourist.

James Bryce in his book "South America" gives a picturesque description of the approach to La Paz, Bolivia. He tells how the traveler who nears La Paz has a surprise in front of him if he is coming from Lake Titicaca, the usual route from the coast. At a point 13,000 feet above sea level the railway from Guayaquil meets the railway from Antofagasta, 400 miles away to the south. "From this point, called Viacha, the route turns eastward toward the Cordillera, the line climbing slowly in wide sweeps over the dusty and shrubless plateau on whose thin grass sheep are browsing. There is not a house visible, and the smooth slope seems to run right up against the mountain wall beyond. Where can La Paz be? asks the traveler.

"Presently, however, he perceives strings of llamas and donkeys and wayfarers on foot moving along the slope toward a point where they all suddenly vanish and are no more seen. Then a spot is reached where the railway itself seems to end between a few sheds. He gets out and walks a few yards to the east and then suddenly pulls up, with a start, on the edge of a yawning abyss.

"Right beneath him, 1,500 feet below, a gray, red-roofed city fills the bottom of the gorge and climbs up its sides on both banks of the torrent that foams through it. Every street and square, every yard and garden, is laid out under the eye as if on a map, and one almost seems to hear the rattle of vehicles over stony pavements coming faintly up through the thin air."

Scotchman's Sad Loss.

"As the waiter laid down my five-pence change," writes C. M. in the Glasgow News, "I noticed that the top most coin was not of British currency. It was, in fact, a French penny. I attracted his attention, therefore, with a notion of my forefinger and indicated the pile of coins with a wave of my hand, which was meant to say 'What is this you have given me?' The waiter bent gracefully forward, scooped up my change with a practiced hand and with a polite 'I thank you, sir,' moved swiftly away. Next time I'll give the language of signs a miss."

Sympathetic.

"Don't you ever find it hard to be a freak?" asked the stoutish, tightly laced woman who had stooped to converse with the fat lady.

"No, not a bit," was the reply. "I often feel sorry for some of you people who seem to find it so hard not to be freaks."—Chicago Record Herald.

Mixed Up.

Worry, whatever may be its source, weakens, takes away courage and shortens life.

"Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Green seem to have little to do but talk across the fence." "Yes, they have plenty to talk about. Mrs. Brown has just come out of the hospital and Mrs. Green thinks of going."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ITCHED AND BURNED TERRIBLY

Face All Covered With Eruption. Unable to Get Rest. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

383 No. Union St., Aurora, Ill.—"My ailment started with a little pimple and it always itched and burned terribly. I scratched it and in a few days my face was all covered with sores. It ran up to my eyes and the day after I could not see out of my right eye. I was unable to get any rest. I couldn't go to bed, being afraid of getting the clothing all soiled, although I had my face all bandaged."

"I was given two jars of salve but it kept getting worse. It was something like a running sore because every time I used some of the salve I had to wrap bandages around my neck to keep the water and pus from running down my body. After I had the trouble two months my mother told me I should try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I wrote for a sample and in a few days I received these and washed my face with the Cuticura Soap and put on some Cuticura Ointment and the next morning my face felt cool and somewhat relieved. After using the sample I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment at the drug store. I followed this treatment just twenty-six days and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was cured." (Signed) George Miller, Jan. 1, 1913.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. A single set is often sufficient when all else fails. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

FORMER SOCIETY LEADER TO FACE TRIAL FOR MURDER

Mrs. Reuter of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Charged With Conspiracy to Cause Death of Her Husband—Alleged Accomplices Now in Penitentiary.

Bartlesville, Okla., Sept. 19.—Hundreds of visitors have arrived here from Tulsa and other cities of this state, attracted by the fact that on Monday next Mrs. Laura M. Reuter, a former society leader and prominent church worker of Tulsa, will be placed on trial before a jury in the local district court upon the charge of complicity in the murder of her husband, Charles T. Reuter, an attorney of Tulsa. Guy Mackenzie and Joe Baker, the two men whose accomplice Mrs. Reuter is charged with having been, were tried upon the charge of murder some months ago and are now serving life terms in the state penitentiary, having been found guilty of the murder of Reuter.

The case was originally on the docket of the superior court at Tulsa, but was transferred to the district court at Bartlesville on a change of venue, after an agreement to this effect had been reached by the attorneys of the state and those of the accused woman. The case will be tried before District Judge R. H. Hudson, by whose order a venire of 100 jurors has been drawn from which the jury in the case will be selected. County Attorney Pat Malloy of Tulsa and his first assistant, Ed Crossland, will represent the state, while several noted lawyers will guard the interests of Mrs. Reuter.

A Puzzling Mystery. The coming trial, which is awaited throughout the state with a great deal of interest, will probably form the concluding chapter of one of the most puzzling mysteries which the authorities and courts of Oklahoma have ever faced. Although two men were found guilty of the murder the real motives and the true inside history of the crime have never become publicly known. Whether the mystery will be solved at the coming trial remains to be seen. Nearly two hundred witnesses have been subpoenaed by the state and by the defense and the trial is expected to last a month or more.

Charles T. Reuter, a well known and prosperous lawyer of Tulsa, was killed in his bed room on the upper floor of his Tulsa residence on the night of May 5 last. The shots which had caused his death and the screams of Mrs. Reuter alarmed the whole neighborhood and when the police entered the house they found Mr. Reuter dead on his bed, while Mrs. Reuter was locked in her room on the opposite side of the hall, screaming for help. It was ascertained that jewelry valued at $400 and $150 in cash which Mr. Reuter was known to have in his pocket, were missing and the natural inference was that Mr. Reuter had been killed by burglars who had entered his house to rob him.

Conspiracy Charged. A thorough investigation was at once begun. It was ascertained that a tall man, masked, and with a red light dangling from his belt, had been seen running from the Reuter residence immediately after the shots had been heard. But the burglary theory did not satisfy the police officials and on the following day Guy D. Mackenzie, Grover Bellew, his chauffeur, and Joe Baker were arrested on the theory that Reuter's murder was the result of a conspiracy, with robbery as a blind to conceal the real motive. Not until the preliminary examination of the three men began was Mrs. Reuter served with a warrant charging her with being a party to the alleged conspiracy.

At the preliminary hearing a great deal of damaging evidence unearthed by the police was offered and the men as well as Mrs. Reuter were held for trial. The men were tried together and in the course of the trial the prosecution maintained that there had been an intimacy between Mackenzie and Mrs. Reuter. It was shown that there had been frequent quarrels between Reuter and his wife; that Mrs. Reuter and Mackenzie frequently met and that she accompanied him several times on joy rides in his automobile. The attempt to prove an alibi for Mackenzie and the other men accused, failed and while the charge against Bellew was dropped, Mackenzie and Joe Baker, his friend and companion, were held for trial. Their trial was brief and they were found guilty and sent to the penitentiary for life.

Mrs. Reuter, who comes from a good family and occupied a high social position in Tulsa, where she was prominently identified with church work and women's club life, was held for trial, but was permitted to remain at liberty upon her own recognizance. She continued to live quietly in her home on North Cheyenne avenue, Tulsa. She is the daughter of Benjamin McKean, formerly postmaster at Indianapolis, Ind., is 26 years old and has two small children. Public opinion seems to be in her favor and it is believed by her numerous friends that she will be able to clearly establish her innocence of any actual or implied share in the alleged conspiracy which led to the murder of her late husband.

Miss Dorothy Camp is expected home today from three months' visit with her uncle, W. M. Daniels, at Spokane, Wash. She will be accompanied by her aunt, Miss Anna Daniels, who will visit here for a while.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE AT STATE FAIR

School for Training of Future Mothers Interesting Part of Fair.

DR. MONTGOMERY TO SPEAK

Will Award Three Scholarships to University of Illinois for High Marks During Illinois State Fair, Oct. 3 to 11, 1913.

The trend of the times is toward an upward and better development along all lines touching the general welfare of mankind. One of the chief of these lines—if we may not almost say at the head of them—is that of properly feeding and caring for the human family so that the sound and healthy body may be the foundation for happy and worthy living.

Recognizing the importance of training our young women—the future mothers of our state—and realizing that such training, though already in some of our best schools—is not available to a great majority of our best young women—the Illinois State Board of Agriculture generously made an appropriation for the establishment and maintenance of a Domestic Science School, to be held the week before and the week of the Illinois State Fair at Springfield.

This year will be held the fourteenth session of the school and promises to be a banner year. Already many applications have been received and accepted and many more are on file. The idea of the board is to give the advantages of the school equally over the state, so one young woman from each county is desired. Some of the counties have never taken advantage of their opportunity of having a representative attend the school, although each year new counties are heard from, and after once sending a pupil are always thereafter represented.

If the readers are not certain that their county is to be represented this year, it will be a wise plan to see to it that some one or perhaps even two young women from their county apply at once. Any young woman desiring the two weeks' instruction in cooking, household science and personal hygiene is eligible to scholarship in the school, after properly filling out application blanks and having them signed. The state gives the instruction free to the pupils—the only expense being an entrance fee of $10 to cover board of pupil during the two weeks.

Many women's clubs arrange to send a representative young woman—she agreeing to report for the club upon her return home.

The school is housed in the Woman's building inside the fair grounds—the dormitories being on the second floor—lecture room, dining room and kitchen below. The woman's board of managers arrange proper chaperonage for all pupils and beside the regular daily work and lectures, pleasant sight-seeing trips are arranged for and social evenings either in the reception hall of the school or elsewhere.

Mrs. Nellie Kedzie Jones will again have charge of the household science tents in baking and dining room service. Mrs. Jones ranks very high as a demonstrator and has a wonderfully magnetic influence over the pupils, instilling not only higher ideas of housekeeping and home making, but of life itself.

Miss Frances Crabtree, superintendent of the Charleston Sanitarium, will this year be the instructor in hygiene and will have nurse's charge over the dormitories. She will give one lecture daily on hygiene and sanitation and Mrs. Jones will give two demonstration lectures daily. This year an innovation in the shape of two extra lecturers will be presented. Dr. J. T. Montgomery of Charleston, president of the board of agriculture, will address the school on Contagious Diseases, and Mr. Robert Lorimer, cattle judge and meat market man of Evanston, will give a demonstration on the cuts of meats.

Out of lecture hours the one hundred and two girls, divided into five groups, do in rotation the dormitory work, preparing meals, dish-wiping, dining room service and bread and cake baking, thus putting into actual practice the theories of the lecture room. Altogether, the life of the two weeks, with the close associations of pupils and faculty, is very pleasant as well as instructive.

Three scholarships to the household science department of the University of Illinois are awarded for highest marks—also two medals for greatest progress. The session is from Thursday, September 25th, to October 10th, 1913.

For further particulars, application blanks and circulars, address the secretary of the board, or any other member. President, Mrs. D. P. Cutler, Benton, Ill.; vice-president, Mrs. H. E. Pursell, Kewanee, Ill.; treasurer, Mrs. A. M. Crews, Charleston, Ill.; secretary, Miss Laura A. Gonterman, Edwardsville, Ill.—Adv.

Mule Racing at State Fair.

Everybody enjoys a mule race, and there will be some mule racing worth seeing this year at the Illinois state fair.

They will be put on as an attraction, and enough money will be offered to get some mules with class.—Adv.

TRADE CONFIDENCE IS STRENGTHENING

OPTIMISM SPREADS AS BUSINESS BROADENS.

Advices Indicate Larger Volume of Trade Than a Year Ago—Most Reports Show Activity in Jobbing Lines or a Tendency in That Direction.

New York, Sept. 19.—Dun's review will say tomorrow: "Business confidence is strengthening and there is slightly more disposition to extend operation further into the future. Most advices indicate a larger volume of trade than a year ago, while some industrial centers report more machinery active with a reduction in the number of unemployed."

Labor troubles exert a retarding influence in a few sections but disturbance of a serious nature are absent. Lower temperatures have had a stimulating effect on distribution of merchandise at retail and the fall season appears to be opening up fairly well.

Less conservatism is manifest in the market for wool. Buyers of leather are operating more freely. Both retail and jobbing trade in footwear is moderately active. Pig iron reflects increased firmness, with heavy sales of southern iron a feature. The strong statistical position of copper has been reflected in a continued rise in prices.

Bradstreet's Report.

New York, Sept. 19.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: "As trade broadens optimism spreads and the result for the week is a relatively cheerful trade report. Most advices indicate activity in jobbing lines or a tendency in that direction. Actual wants, following a prolonged policy of starving stocks is the foremost factor in broadening demand."

Coupled with this are a number of other activity-making characteristics. Thus, the marketing of crops at good prices; some rain in the southwestern drought-afflicted section; stimulants afforded by fall festivals and a somewhat enlarged turnover in retail circles.

Though the uplift has not been uniformly favorable in all branches of trade and industry—in fact, there are quite a few laggards—it is significant that many of the returns indicate that trade, especially in dry-goods is well ahead of last year.

Business failures for the week are 259, which compares with 279 in 1912.

Friends Expected Her to Die.

"I sincerely believe my life was saved in the Fall of 1910 by using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, writes Mrs. Agnes Booth, Tonawanda, N. Y. "I was taken with diarrhea followed by an attack of acute indigestion. Power of the pen fails to portray the agonies I endured. My friends expected me to die as I had been unable to get relief for so long a time. This remedy went directly to the seat of the trouble and cured me in a few hours' time." For sale by all dealers. ### STOP CATARRH!

Unless Properly Treated With Hyomei This Disease May Become Serious.

If you have catarrh, usually indicated by sniffing, stopped up head, droppings in throat, watery eyes and morning choking, there is an irritated state of mucous membrane which affords an ideal condition for the growth of disease germs.

Do not allow the dangerous germs which may be breathed into the nose, throat and lungs to begin the destruction of your health.

The easiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to check catarrh is by breathing Hyomei—all druggists sell it. This wonderful medicated air treatment does not upset the stomach, but is breathed in through the Hyomei Inhaler, directly following and surely destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled—the tissues of the throat, nose and lungs are quickly healed and vitalized.

The unusual way in which Hyomei is sold dispels all doubts as to its curative properties. Money refunded to anyone whom Hyomei fails to benefit. A complete outfit including inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs but $1.00. Adv.

FOOTBALL VARSITY CANDIDATES GET GRUELLING WORK OUT

Ames Squad Working Hard For Games With Grinnell and Minnesota.

Ames, Iowa, Sept. 19.—With a game against Grinnell college in one week and the annual battle with the University of Minnesota in two weeks, candidates for the Ames football team have been receiving the hardest kind of work this week. Scrimmage will start Tuesday.

The team which meets Minnesota will have but one of the men who played on last year's team, this year's team being constructed solely from last year's freshmen. Twenty-one of the hundred men in suits have already been picked as a beginning of a varsity squad.

Practice Begins Today.
Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 19.—Official football practice at the University of Iowa will begin here tomorrow with the arrival of the coaches. A large part of the squad has been here for some time working under Captain McGinnis.

The backfield is almost certain to be the same as last year until sophomores show better than last year's quartette. The line will be largely new. The non-arrival of Kirk, one of the few of last year's tackles eligible, is causing worry.

Drake Squad Light.
Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 19.—Work in rudiments in a dashing rain wound up the first half week of practice for the Drake university football squad tonight. Captain Simmons, who suffered two operations following the football season last year, is again in shape. The squad is light, most of them being returned members of the 1912 candidates. Work is being pushed for the first game in one week.

Forty Candidates Practice.
Columbia, Mo., Sept. 19.—Forty candidates for the University of Missouri football team were given the first forward pass practice of the season this afternoon.

St. Louis U. Deal.
St. Louis, Sept. 19.—The eligibility committee of the St. Louis university this afternoon dealt a hard blow to the school's football team's championship aspirations when it ruled that Johnny Maguire, quarterback, and Artie Zachritz, halfback, could not play with the eleven this year because each had played during the season of 1910, although neither played a full game during 1910 the committee ruled that they were barred by the three year rule.

Rubbing will necessitate Coach Donnie's drilling of new material which is not very promising.

BREAK EVEN IN DOUBLE HEADER

Cincinnati Wins Ten Inning Struggle

Second 2 to 1.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 19.—Brooklyn and Cincinnati broke even in a double header today, the locals winning the first game which went ten innings 1 to 0 and the visitors capturing the second 2 to 1. Scores:

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES.

George Huff, director of athletics at Illinois university, Urbana, will in the future devote all of his time to the college athletes. The trustees have advanced his salary to $6,000, so that he may not need to do the Billy Bryan chautauqua turn by scouting for Cleveland in order to keep the wolf from the door.

Jim Vaughn lost his first game in a Cub uniform Thursday. His mates outthrew the Beaneaters, 9-8, but in the third, on an easy force at second, the big fellow made a three-base error and presented the game to the enemy.

The national commission has a letter in draft to all club owners which will express itself strongly against players lending their names to newspaper articles during the world's series. The objection is the same one that Ban Johnson raised early in the year that the players seldom, if ever, write the articles. The public is inflicted with enough gold-brick stuff during the season without having to go into winter quarters upon a diet of such slop, spread over by yellow newspapers and carrying the names of prominent ball players. In the two big leagues the players who can write a baseball story, or any other kind of story for that matter, can be counted upon the first three fingers of either hand. They are Doc White, White Sox; Hugh Jennings, Detroit, and Al Denaree, Giants. There are any number of college highbrows in the leagues, but among them there is not a trained writer.

A Chicago paper on Thursday printed a picture of "Rabbit" Maraville of the Boston Braves. The peppery shortstop has a good case for libel against the paper for publishing a cut that was used in the search for Willie Tascott over twenty years ago.

A Chicago pedagogue, John Stuart White, has asked Health Commissioner Young to prohibit the use of the saliva daubed sphere in baseball games on the grounds that its use is a menace to the public health and is unesthetic. The commissioner does not agree with the schoolmaster. He says it may be unesthetic, but for specimens of health he refers him to Ed Walsh and Joe Benz. John Stuart White evidently has never attended many of the games in Chicago, otherwise he would discover many things more unesthetic than the spitball—grandstands and bleachers crowded with countless fans and pavilions jammed with dreams in split skirts, green stockings, ad lib. ad infinitum.

Fred Perrine, who had been under observation in a San Francisco hospital for the past week, has been declared insane by a jury and will be incarcerated in the state hospital for the feeble minded. Perrine was one of the very best arbiters who ever officiated in either of the big leagues, and what he did not know about the game and its rules, never was written in the book of laws. He was not a cringing sort of a judge, but he was the kind that when he made a decision it was final. No browbeating nor roughneck bunk would tolerate and as a result he fostered the confidence of the spectators and demanded respect from players and managers. There are too few of the Perrine stamp of umpires in the game today, and lovers of the pastime everywhere will sorrow for the many tribulations "Bull" has felt help to since his troubles commenced with that sunstroke in Cleveland two years ago the past summer.

A special telegram from Los Angeles is authority for the information that Tom McCarey on Thursday, in his attorney's office "did" the putting soubrette act—he fainted. He was consulting his legal adviser over details of his trial as an accessory to the killing of "Bull" Young by Jess Willard in his Vernon arena. His nerves, so it is claimed, have been shattered ever since that occurrence, and he had been planning to reopen his club with a match next month between Joe Rivers and Leach Cross, more as a test of the law than for any other reason. While in the law office he was told that the Mexican, Rivers, had been again arrested for speeding his gasoline cart; that an unrelenting city judge had become weary of imposing almost daily fines on Joe, and had banished him to the school of geology—the city rockpile—for thirty days, turning big ones into little ones. Tom immediately called off the Leach-Rivers go, swooned and "fainted" home. How sad!

In commenting upon one of the New York-Sox games, a writer says, "Gilbooley, a supposedly weak hitter, seemed three hits." Gilbooley, a weak hitter, will be a surprise to Frank Chance, who grabbed him for his hitting ability and speed in the field and upon the paths. Since joining the Highlanders Gilbooley has been the most consistent swatter upon the team, and gives promise of being a whale with the war club next season.

Ed Walsh broke into the game on Thursday in New York against the Yankees. Press reports say he acquitted himself in grand style after his two months' lay off; but between the lines it is deemed that his grand old salary wing has not yet rounded into its well-known deadly kick.

Coach Zuppke will start Illinois season's practice at Urbana this morning at 8 o'clock. Scholinger, Wilson and Derby, the veterans of Illini, have been on the field several days, and in their exercises running down punts and tackling the dummy have shown themselves to be in excellent condition.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If Tongue Is Coated or if Cross, Feverish, Constipated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, and sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup. (Adv.)

TOURISTS PASS THROUGH RUSSIA

CITY OF IRKUTSK INTERESTING PLACE TO VISIT.

Country is Noted For Its Great Number of Holidays—Sheet Iron and Leather Valued Products—Russian Wedding is Described.

(By S. W. Nichols)
June 27—In the middle of the night we reached Irkutsk and had a fine ending of a remarkable day. We skirted the river and passed through the well known city of Chita, noted in some parts of Russia as a convenient and delightful summer resort and surely if a man wanted to get a long distance from everybody he could do it there, that is, he could get a long way from civilization. Here it was in 1689 that the Chinese captured a body of Russians and took them to Peking and there they became naturalized as it were and famous soldiers and like the renowned Swiss guards at the vatican, they were made the emperor's body guard. Farther down the river on a prominent projecting cliff a great iron cross has been erected and on it the words:

"Power lies not in force, but in love"
Yet less than a hundred miles away is the city of Blagovesmen, where thirteen years ago there was a ruthless slaughter of Chinese by Russian soldiers. The next place of any consequence passed was Verkh-Udinsk, where the Peking-Kalgan air line, to which I have already alluded, will join the main line, if ever it is built. A little farther down we crossed a bridge, 1,816 feet long and a ne structure. It is over the Selenga river and is not far from Selenga, a place hallowed by the labors of two grand missionaries, William Stallybrods and Edward Sven, who labored there with good results many years ago. They translated the Bible into the Mongolian tongue, a great undertaking, and did much other good.

The next place visited was Missolia on the shores of Lake Balkal, one of the most noted bodies of water in the whole world. Next to our five great lakes and Victoria Nysnze, in Africa, it is the largest body of fresh water in the world. It is fifteen hundred feet above sea level and in places a mile deep. It abounds in fish and is the only fresh water in which seals thrive. Traffic is carried on across its surface by two powerful ice-breakers and it is longer than England and a wonderful body of water. We skirted its shores for a long distance and after dark plunged through eighty tunnels, but the effect was lost on us, as we were not aware when we went through as we were when we rode along the Ligurean sea in Italy. Along with Lake Balkal and other waterways Siberia has 15,000 miles of inland navigation and hundreds of thousands of immigrants are thus transported to the newer parts of the land.

We had hoped to reach Irkutsk during the afternoon and would have done so had the train been on time, but it wasn't and so we camped down and did the best we could till two in the morning, when we were aroused from our slumbers and told we must change cars, an ordeal for which we had been already prepared by the agency which sold us our tickets. The place has a tough reputation and possibly more so than it deserves. Of it a well known writer says:

"The police are few; escaped convicts and ticket of leave men many. In this place and all east of it a stranger should not go out to walk after dark. If unable to get a carriage, as often the case, the only safe way is to tramp noisily along on the board walk. Be careful in making crossings and do not stop or the immense mongrel mastiffs turned loose into the streets as guards will attack. To walk in the middle of the street is to court attack from the garroters, with which Siberia abounds."

Speaking of garroters, another writer says:
"With a short stick or a noose of rope he approaches his victim steadily from the rear, slips the cord over his head and strangles the man, who is unable to utter a cry. Then he strips the body of everything likely to lead to its identification and decamps. If there is an accomplice he blocks the stranger's advance or engages his attention at the right moment."

On the other hand Lorenzo Taft, a well known Russian traveler, says he thinks these statements exaggerated. He was several days in the city and while he went about only in the daytime, he was not at all molested. We had a great time getting changed and it was indeed annoying. The train we were on went no farther and we saw some of the beauties of Russian management. We had been assured that the reservations would be identical the same and there would be no trouble, but it turned out to be every one for himself, except the few who had made good friends with our conductor and we rushed into the ticket office and managed to do very well. We secured a separate room for Mrs. Ewart and Henrietta, while Mr. Ewart and myself were called on to share ours with a young Russian officer, who is quiet and polite. The cars are much better even than the ones we left and two gentlemen cooped in the first class paid $55.00 to get a room in the second. The dust is the worst feature of the trip, but it must be endured. At the end of the rear coach is an observation room, but the sun and dust make it unpleasant in the forenoon.

Irkutsk is a place of some 100,000 inhabitants and is a city of considerable importance. It is supplied with hotels and churches, while it is the residence of a governor general and archbishop. It has a civil and military hospital, several orphanages, one of which is especially designed for the children of exiles. About fifty miles to the northwest is one of the largest prisons in the country. It goes by the euphonious name of Alexandrovskaya and sometimes houses 3000 prisoners awaiting drafting to the mines and other places of exile. In contrast with this is a society for preventing abuses of exiles, though how much is accomplished is hard to say. The city is at the confluence of the great trans-siberian railroad, is the emporium for rich mines and has a large and increasing trade from Corea, China and Manchuria. The museum here is especially noteworthy, as it contains so many specimens of extinct animals, whose remains are found in the marshy deposits with which this region abounds. There are elephants, rhinoceroses and other extinct mammoths found in the frozen territory, for which the country here is famous. The curious appearance of long, straggling hair on the bodies of these monsters attracts attention. The flesh on their bodies is so well preserved in the frozen earth that when thawed out it is eagerly eaten by the dogs. Even today these carcasses are forbidden ground to wild animals, which would soon sink out of sight should they attempt to pass over it. When an ice pack breaks down a river bank or a flood tears up a frozen marsh then the bodies of the creatures are sure to appear. In many cases they are so fresh and well preserved with their dark, shaggy hair and underwood of reddish brown, their tufted ears and long, curved tusks that all the aborigines and even some of the Russians persist in believing that they are specimens of animals that still live, burrowing under the ground like moles and die when brought to light.

There is an active market for the tusks, some of which find their way to the southern part of China and doubtless the beautiful carvings we saw in Canton were on ivory from Irkutsk. It is startling to imagine the changes which have taken place in our mother earth and think of the time when these animals roamed over these plains as their descendants now find their sustenance in Africa, where they were hunted by Roosevelt and other nimrods of the present day.

Russia is noted for the great number of its holidays. A traveler staying in Irkutsk says in one week they celebrated the czar's birthday on Wednesday, on Thursday Ascension day, and Saturday the removal of the bones of St. Nicholas. One sad feature of these affairs is the vast amount of drunkenness, for while the government does not permit the sale of any patent medicine without official sanction, it has a heavy tax on the national drink, vodka, from which it derives an enormous revenue and drunkenness prevails to an alarming extent. Nearly half the days of the year are holidays and are so with all it implies, for stores and places of business are closed as on Sunday and more so.

On the other hand those well posted ed say a holiday is Russia is a pathetic sight, for there is no hearty joyousness as with us and it has been remarked, how can a people ever be happy when a system of espionage, like a threatening thunderbolt, hangs over them, while ignorance and superstition darken the air. Nowhere in the vast empire does one see the hearty good nature of Chinese or Anglo-Saxon or the spontaneous vivacity of the Japanese or French. Melancholy is plainly marked on the brow of the Russian and while spasmodic hilarity may be inspired by copious drinks of vodka the drinker only sinks deeper in melancholy after the effect passes away.

Rev. H. S. Alkire Will Preach Farewell Sermons Tomorrow.
Sunday Rev. Hy S. Alkire will complete his pastorate with Brooklyn and it will take on the nature of

Rev. Hy S. Alkire
a jubilee. The official board has arranged to burn an old note which the church gave to save it from financial embarrassment in the spring of 1912. This note covered street paving, sewer, etc., put in on South East street about ten years ago. Eight payments had lapsed and the delinquent taxes were bought up by a dealer. Along with these assessments, in the past eighteen months, over $1,000 has been spent on the parsonage property, church wiring, furnace, etc.

During Rev. Mr. Alkire's administration, the church has had a net gain of 105. He has conducted 48 funerals, married 31 couples, baptized 62 candidates and delivered over 60 special addresses, in addition to conducting regular Sunday services, revivals, prayer meetings, etc. In 1910-11 the church paid $1,000 salary, including $300 help from the conference. The past year it paid, with Asbury, $1300 and house. This is a fine showing in the face of the debt-paying and repairing campaign which Mr. Alkire has carried on.

The attendance at all services during Mr. Alkire's term has more than doubled and the Sunday night services have been especially popular. Sunday he will give his closing sermons and no doubt large congregations will hear him then.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"Pape's Diapiesin" Ends Indigestion, Gas Dyspepsia and Stomach Misery in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapiesin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapiesin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia or any stomach misery.

Get some now this minute, and ride yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes. (Adv.)

Agricultural News Valuable To Farmers

BREEDING HORSES BY SYSTEMATIC METHOD

AUTOMOBILE HAS NO NOTICE-ABLE EFFECT ON USE FOR DRAFT HORSES.

Big Percentage Still In Use on the Farm—Economic Farm Operations Demand that Breed Mares Work—The Tazewell County Breeder's Plan of Work.

(By E. T. Robbins, Agricultural Adviser, Tazewell County.)

Draft horse breeding continues to prosper. The automobile has had little effect upon the work of the draft horse; about seven horses out of eight are on farms, so that even though the auto truck should come into extensive use in cities the draft

ERNEST F. ROBBINS
Agricultural Adviser, Tazewell Co.
Mr. Robbins, whose picture is shown above, is a graduate of the University of Illinois, class of 1900. In 1905 he was a farmer and stock raiser; in 1905-09, assistant in the Department of Animal Husbandry, Iowa State college, and in 1909 he became associate editor of the Breeder's Gazette. He was recently appointed to his present position, as agricultural adviser in Tazewell county.

horses would be but slightly affected. The motor cannot take the place of horses to any great extent for farm work. Even in cities the use of the auto truck is limited.

Farmers who are raising draft horses are experiencing their share of prosperity. Cattle breeders are discouraged because their land is too high priced for grazing; swine breeders are discouraged because of loss by cholera, and the sheep men must fight dogs and stomach worms, but the draft horse breeders find no great difficulties. By using brood mares for farm work the horse breeder is guaranteed a profitable income from them even if they should fail to breed. We must select brood mares and stallions which are good workers. There is no necessity for keeping an idle horse on the farm for breeding purposes. Stallions which work are better breeders because of it. Mares which work daily throughout most of the year produce families of colts which are likewise good workers.

Working Brood Mares.
The farmer who works his brood mare may lose a few colts because of it during a term of years, and may find that some of his mares do not breed when put to work, but all such unsatisfactory breeders should be disposed of. Economically farm operations demand that brood mares work, and it has been amply demonstrated in the experience of farmers and leading breeders that a large proportion of mares will breed regularly when kept in harness. The Percherons of France have been raised in this way in the hands of small farmers who work their brood mares regularly. That is one reason why Percherons have proved to be such satisfactory farm horses in America. American farmers can profitably produce their own horses. There is no reason for this country paying $1,000,000 per year to French breeders for horses no better than we can produce at home. We have the climate, the feeds, and the brains necessary for successful horse breeding. If all farmers would do their field work with high class registered brood mares, this country could produce all of the breeding stock that it needs. Horse breeding in this country is coming rapidly to that basis, and the farmers who are leading the way are reaping the greatest profits.

Selling Surplus Colts.
One problem which the farmer breeder faces is that of selling his surplus colts. Breeders are scattered to such an extent in this country that they cannot sell their stock so easily as breeders in Europe, who are more closely situated. Men who now import large numbers of horses would gladly buy them in America if they could find them in less time and without great traveling expenses. Some way of facilitating the trade in home bred draft horses to the advantage of both breeders and buyers is needed. Several counties have organized breeders' associations in recent years and these have been instrumental in disposing of their surplus stock to advantage. In some cases two or three carloads of registered horses have been sold in a year through such an organization.

The Tazewell County Percheron Breeders' association was organized July 5, 1913, to serve the interests of its members in this and other ways. It has 33 charter members and the membership now numbers over 50. This organization proposes to extend the breeding of Percherons to still larger proportions on the farms in this county. There are now 110 breeders of Percherons in Tazewell county and they own approximately 700 Percheron horses. Many farmers are now breeding good grade Percherons and these will be persuaded to replace this stock with registered horses. This association will also hold township colt shows and make special efforts to have a good exhibit of Percherons at the county fair. The members will combine their interests in advertising and selling their surplus stock. Tazewell county now stands fifth in the state of Illinois in the number of Percherons bred, but it is expected that such a strong local organization will rapidly advance its position to the very front rank. If farmers in every county would breed in this way to promote the breeding of the most popular breed of draft horses in the country, their horse breeding work would be made much more profitable.

than it is now. Already horse breeding gives more profit than any other kind of breeding work, because horses breed and work at the same time. Every farmer must have horses and so it is convenient for him to be a breeder.

FOREST NOTES.

Switzerland has four co-operative associations for the growing and marketing of forest products.

The United States forest service is using gasoline railway speeders for fire protection purposes. They follow up trains on steep grades where sparks thrown out by forced draft are likely to start fires along the right of way.

Forest officers have found that high power telescopes are not always satisfactory in fire lookout work. In some localities heat vibrations in the atmosphere are so magnified by the glass that clearer vision can be had with the unaided eye.

At the national conservation congress to be held in Washington, November 18-20, the subject of forestry will be handled by a main committee, with sub-committees which will report on federal and state forest policies, forest taxation, fires, lumbering, planting, utilization, forest schools and scientific forest investigations.

Elk have been found in the Uinta national forest, Utah, for the first time in many years. Since they are not from shipments from the Jackson Hole country to neighboring forests, the state and federal officials are gratified at this apparent increase in big game, as the result of protection.

THE RIGHT METHODS IN BREAD MAKING

MISS BEVIER TALKS OF INGREDIENTS AND PROPORTIONS.

Figures are Based on Twelve Standard Recipes for Making and Baking—Points in the Table Are Discussed—Accuracy Needed to Bring Best Results.

By Isabel Bevier, Department of Household Science, U. of I. (Article VI.)

In order to secure the consensus of opinion by those in authority in regard to the ingredients of bread, the amount and proportion of them, used in bread Miss Katherine Jensen of the university compiled from standard cook books twelve recipes for the making of bread and tabulated the amounts of ingredients, which the different authorities asked for. The results are shown in the following table:

Discussion of Table.

Evidently most authorities prefer to use three cups of flour to one of liquid; only two suggest a different proportion; water has the preference as the liquid, though five suggest the use of milk; the amount of yeast used varies considerably, from one-eighth to one and one-half cups per loaf; shortening varies from none to six teaspoonsful, but five omit it altogether; sugar is omitted by three, while the nine others vary the amount from one-half to three teaspoonsful. While no recipe omits salt, there is less variation in the amounts used, viz., one-eighth to one teaspoonful.

One should observe not only the actual amounts used, but also the relation of these three ingredients, shortening, sugar and salt, sustain to each other. Three recipes omit shortening and sugar entirely; three recipes call for equal measures of sugar and salt, but there is quite general agreement in the idea that the measure of sugar should exceed that of the salt (in one case six times as much), while in six cases the quantity of the shortening exceeds that of both sugar and salt. After looking at such a table the question arises, what influence has the quantity and quality of yeast, the proportion of shortening, sugar and salt on the final product, the loaf of bread. Fortunately, an answer to these questions is found in consulting further the work of five Illinois students.

Recipe Used.

1. The recipe and method of procedure by Miss Anna Williams were as follows:

1. Miss Williams' Thesis, p. 3.
Salt, 1 tsp.—6 g.
Sugar, 1 tsp.—5 g.
Butter, 1 tsp.—5 g.
Water, 1 cup—260 cc

Compressed yeast, 1/2 cake—4 g.
Gold Medal flour, 3.6 cups—470 g.

"The cup of water having been measured at room temperature was warmed to 42 degrees C.; three-fourths of it was added to the butter, salt and sugar, in a mixing bowl, and one-fourth of it was used to soften the yeast. The yeast mixture was added to the liquid in the bowl; then the flour, slightly warmed, was beaten in gradually. The dough was kneaded for 20 minutes, and put to rise at 26 degrees C., until doubled in bulk. It was then made into a loaf and again put to rise until doubled in bulk in the pan. In many cases three risings, instead of two, were allowed. The loaf was baked in the gas range for 45 minutes. The oven temperature most used was 180 degrees C. for 15 minutes, 180-235 degrees C. rising very gradually during 15 minutes and 218 degrees for 20 minutes. The size of the pan used was 8 1/2 x 2 1/2 x 3 inches.

"This method, termed the short process, required six to seven hours for completion, according to whether two or three risings were allowed."

How to Cure Cholera Morbus.

Many cases of this disease result fatally before medicine can be obtained or a physician summoned. It is easily cured when the proper remedy is at hand. Mrs. Charles Stewart of Mt. Collins, N. Y., says: "When my husband had cholera morbus last summer he used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it cured him promptly." Every family should keep this remedy at hand. It only costs a quarter. For sale by all dealers. (Adv.)

ALFALFA ON EVERY FARM DR. HOPKINS GIVES NEW ILLINOIS SLOGAN FACTS ABOUT ACID SOILS

DUPAGE COUNTY ADVISER EXPLAINS WAYS OF INOCULATION.

Three Plans are Possible for Growing—Preparation of Seed Bed in Careful Way Is Vastly Important—Plants Should Be Cut Before the Bloom Comes.

By E. B. Heaton, County Adviser, Dupage County.

(Article II.)
The three methods of inoculating the soil for growing alfalfa commonly used are: The taking of soil already containing these bacteria and spreading it over the soil to be seeded, the glueing of inoculated dirt to the seeds before sowing, and the treatment of the seed by a laboratory preparation advertised under the name of artificial cultures, such as "Nitragen."

The first is probably the most reliable method, but it takes a great deal more work than the other two methods. It consists of the spreading of from two to four hundred pounds per acre of dirt taken from an old inoculated alfalfa field or from where sweet clover has been growing and spreading this dirt some cloudy day or in the evening before seeding and simply harrowing it into the seed bed. Care must be exercised that the dirt is not exposed to the hot sun or the bacteria will be killed.

The second method is one coming into use of late years and consists of the use of furniture glue and dirt from the inoculated alfalfa or sweet clover field. The dirt is taken and thoroughly dried in the shade and then mashed up very finely by the use of a brick and a smooth board. A glue solution of one pound of glue to two and one-half gallons of water is prepared and sprinkled very thoroughly over the seeds. As soon as this is done the finely pulverized dirt is carefully spread over the seed, care being taken that each seed has a fine piece of infected dirt on it, and that sunlight is avoided while the work is being done.

The third method is similar to the glue method, each preparation having its special directions which must be carefully followed.

Preparing Seed Bed.

In the preparation of a seed bed the best results will be secured where the longest time has been used in preparing the ground. Fall plowing and early continued working of the soil in the spring until the first part of June, and then the seeding, is a very good plan. Spring or fall plowing and summer fallowing to keep down and kill the weeds, and seeding from the middle of July until the middle of August has probably given the best results in the corn belt. Fall or spring plowing, with spring seeding with a light nurse crop of barley or oats has been very commonly practiced with good results in the northern portion of the corn belt as in Northern Illinois, Northern Iowa and Wisconsin.

A seed bed for alfalfa for all the clovers must be fine and very firm rolled for the best results. The roller is the best aid we have to successful clover seeding. The best seed for the northern portion of the corn growing country has been found to be the northern and northwestern grown seed, but beware of seed from an irrigated country. Farther south more southern varieties can be grown.

The rate of seeding will depend on the germination of the seed. A good seed will furnish a good stand with from 12 to 15 pounds of seed per acre, while a poorer seed and a poorer seed bed will take 20 pounds. Any good grass seeder is all right to use.

Alfalfa should be cultivated each year at least once after one of the cuttings. The first year after seeding a common harrow may be used, after that a spring tooth harrow is probably the best tool to use and especially on a clay or firm soil. Where the soil is sandy and very rich in organic matter and mellow, the common pulverizer disc has given good results. If given a thorough cultivation the weeds and June grass will not bother.

The Time for Cutting.

The time of cutting the alfalfa cannot be too strongly emphasized. Do not wait for the bloom, but cut when the new shoots at the base of the plant have started. If you wait until these new shoots have grown four or five inches you have injured your second crop and set it back two weeks. Alfalfa does not branch out from the stems like sweet clover, but grows from the crown of the plant each time.

In regard to the curing, each man will have to work out his own method. Alfalfa is not as hard to cure as red clover and if handled in the same way makes a very good hay. A side delivery tedder and a hay loader are common means of handling the large areas. With smaller areas the hay cock with the hay cap gives very good results and is the ideal way to cure it properly as it is with all hay. The alfalfa should be tedded or put in the cock when just wilted and while it is tough, so that the leaves will be saved.

Alfalfa on every farm in the corn belt is our motto, because in this crop we have the most profitable and best nitrogen gatherer of our leguminous crops.

QUOTES FROM TESTS MADE AT STRONGVILLE.

Soil Expert of University Believes Lime and Basic Slag Will Correct Deficiencies—Tells Results of Various Experiments.

Question: Our soil is shown to be acid by the litmus test and is helped by the application of phosphorus. Will the liberal application of basic slag correct both deficiencies? What is the value compared with acid phosphate? In a three year rotation of corn, wheat and clover, would it be best to apply the basic slag partly on corn and partly on wheat?

Answer: There is only one place in the world where we can go for definite information based on long continued field investigations regarding the comparative value of acid phosphate and basic slag for the production of corn, wheat and clover, and this place is the Ohio experiment station. The experiments planned by Director Charles E. Thorne nearly 20 years ago have been carried on for 19 years at Wooster and for 18 years at Strongsville.

The rotation actually practiced is corn, oats, wheat, clover and timothy, but there are five different fields at each place devoted to this rotation experiment, so that each crop may be represented every year. Consequently we are able to ascertain the

The weather conditions this year have brought about several curious things. The three bags shown above contain oats. The one on the left is obtained from a plot that was limed; the yield was 41 bushels per acre. The sack in the center contains oats from a plot that was both limed and manured; the yield was 33 bushels per acre. The peculiar weather conditions caused the manured land to yield less than the land which received lime alone. The sack on the right contains the oats from a plot on which lime, manure and phosphorus were used; yield 45 bushels per acre.

The glass jars above show the comparison in rainfall of this season with the average of 15 seasons. The left hand jar shows 7.3 inches of water, the rainfall of this season, April 1 to August 27. The right hand jar shows the average rainfall for 15 seasons, 18.2 inches, April 1 to September 1. From this it is seen that the rainfall this season is two and one-half times less than the average for 15 seasons.

As an average for the 19 years at Wooster, nitrogen and potassium without any form of phosphate was produced increased yields of 6.76 bushels of corn, 2.67 bushels of wheat, and 442 pounds of clover hay per acre. When acid phosphate was used in addition to the same amount of nitrogen and potassium—the increased yields were 18.46 bushels of corn, 15.83 bushels of wheat, and 1,445 pounds of clover hay. But when basic slag phosphate, together with the same amounts of nitrogen and potassium, the increased yields were 15.19 bushels of corn, 13.57 bushels of wheat, and 1,300 pounds of clover hay. As an average of all these years the acid phosphate produced a larger increase in every crop than the slag phosphate, the differences in favor of the acid phosphate having been 3.27 bushels of corn, 2.32 bushels of wheat, and 145 pounds of clover hay.

Strongville Experiments.

At Strongville the average annual increases produced by nitrogen and potassium were 2.40 bushels of corn, 1.57 bushels of wheat, and 243 pounds of clover hay per acre, while acid phosphate, together with the same amounts of nitrogen and potassium, produced 10.73 bushels of corn, 9.93 bushels of wheat and 870 pounds of clover hay. Where slag phosphate was used with the same amounts of nitrogen and potassium the increases were 11.28 bushels of corn, 10.53 bushels of wheat and 847 pounds of clover hay per acre. Thus at Strongville the acid phosphate produced slightly better results on wheat. The same amount of phosphorus was applied in slag phosphate as in the acid phosphate. During the latter years of the experiments some lime or ground limestone has been applied to one-half of each series of plots, but the same amount of limestone was added with slag phosphate as with acid phosphate. As a general average of all results at both Wooster and Strong-ville, the value of the increase from fertilizers for the five crops grown is $29.40 where acid phosphate was used, and $28.64 where the phosphorus was applied in slag phosphate. As an average of the first five years of these investigations the value of the increase produced by the fertilizers which included acid phosphate was $24.09, while $22.55 is the corresponding value for the increase in the five crops where phosphorus was applied in slag phosphate. Where the same amounts of nitrogen and potassium were used without any phosphorus the average value of the increase was $4.61.

I know of no trustworthy data which would justify advising your correspondent to use slag phosphate in preference to acid phosphate. Even the combined benefit of the phosphorus and lime contained in the slag was not so great during the first five years when no limestone was applied as the benefit produced by the acid phosphate carrying the same amount of phosphorus. If the soil needs lime, it would seem much more rational and economical to apply liberal amounts of limestone which can be purchased, and delivered at almost any railroad station in Illinois, for less than $1.50 per ton. The cost in Ohio ought not to be very much greater.

I know of no long continued investigations in which a comparison has been made as to the effect of applying phosphorus every three years in a rotation of corn, wheat and clover, and applying the same amount of phosphorus part for corn and part for wheat. In normal soil systems the soil improvement where provision is made for manure, lime or increasing the organic matter of the soil by the rotation actually practiced is corn, oats, wheat, clover and timothy, but there are five different fields at each place devoted to this rotation experiment, so that each crop may be represented every year. Consequently we are able to ascertain the

Making Casein Glue.
Casein glue is made by adding to a quantity of crude casein one-fourth its weight of distilled water and one-fourth per cent of bicarbonate of soda. Mix thoroughly, then add a quantity of distilled water equal to the original amount used and let stand from five to six hours. An antiseptic should be added to prevent fermentation. Closely allied to the casein glues are several kinds of casein putties.

The addition of milk to whitewash increases its adhesiveness and durability. The increased efficiency is due to the combination of casein and lime. This compound, formed by the combination of casein with certain other substances, forms the basis of the casein putties. One of the best formulas for paint for outside work is that of Sherer.

100 parts of weight of casein.
100 parts of weight of caustic lime from marble.
800 parts of weight of levigated chalk.

Two parts of weight of ultramarine (for white only).
One part of weight of borax.

Casein putties on the market are kalsomine wash, cold water paint, casein enamel paint, and many others. A very durable paint can be made by mixing one gallon of milk with four pounds of Portland cement, adding a good color. This paint must be stirred constantly as it is applied as the cement is not held in suspension. A coat of this paint will dry in about six hours and is not affected by water.

Some Other Products.

Casein mixed with lime or other alkaline material can be converted, by the addition of a little water, into a plastic body, which dries to a transparent mass as hard as bone and can be stained any color. In this way imitation ivory and horn, insulating preparation, and an antiradiative and anticorrosive substance for covering steam and refrigeration pipes, a covering for floors that resembles linoleum, imitation leather, etc., are made. Another peculiar substance known as milk stone or galalith has been prepared by a patent process. Galalith resembles celluloid, in many respects being harder, however, and less elastic than celluloid. Knife handles, rings, chess figures, etc., have been made from this substance. Casein finds extended use in the textile industry. Some of the casein products used as caseo gum, to assist fibers in absorbing dyes, glutin, a glaze for dressing certain fabrics, a product for water proofing cloth and for leading silk (making it appear heavier than it really is).

Some of the patent foodstuffs on the market that contain a large percent of casein are sanotogen, lastarine, galactogen, plasmon, nutrum, etc., products containing casein, milk sugar and salts.

Casein is also used extensively in the paper making industry. By patent processes water proof cardboard, washable wall paper, art paper, etc., are made. The soap making industry uses casein in toilet soaps. There is even a shoe polish that contains casein.

As a by-product of the dairy industry, casein is rapidly approaching a position of commercial importance.

THE HOSPITAL PAPERS AND MAGAZINES

Attention is again called to the request of the ladies of the Hospital Aid society for papers and magazines in order to assist in furnishing the new nurses' home. All who have old papers and magazines which they are willing to give away; also old rubbers, will help a good cause by sending word to Mrs. Kate Hollinger or Mrs. Miller Weir, or call them up by Illinois telephone. The things will be called for about October 1 and donors are asked to tie them in bundles.

Best prices of all kinds at Knodes' Grams always right.

How to Cure Sick Headache.

C. E. Mustoe, of Fresno, California, has adopted the correct treatment for sick headache. He says: "I have used Chamberlain's Tablets for sick headache and constipation for the past two years. I have never found any preparation so satisfactory in every respect for this condition."

CASEIN NOW PUT TO GREAT MANY USES

DAIRY PRODUCT NOW MANUFACTURED ON LARGE SCALE.

Statistics Show that Usage Has Increased 100 Percent Within Five Years—Is Produced from Skim Milk—A Good Formula for Paint.

(By J. M. Barnhart, Department of Dairy Husbandry.)

The separation of casein from milk for cheese making has been practiced for centuries, but only in comparatively recent years has this been put to uses. Dry casein is now manufactured on a large scale and used in the preparation of many articles of general use. Statistics show that the use of casein has increased 100 percent in the last five years. Europe and America together consume about 15,000 tons. The United States alone used 7,000 tons.

Casein is produced from skim milk and butter milk. The process of manufacture consists essentially of precipitation by acid, the draining and drying of the curd.

For certain technical uses it is necessary to purify the commercial casein. This is done by dissolving the commercial product in dilute alkali at a high temperature, reprecipitating the curd with acid, washing repeatedly with water, pressing and drying. One hundred pounds of skim milk will yield about 3 1/2 pounds of dried casein, which contains about 12 percent moisture. Butter milk casein is darker in color than the skim milk product and contains a higher percentage of fat, is less soluble and cannot be used so extensively nor for such high grade products as skim milk casein. Casein is used in the manufacture of paint, glue, paper, dress goods, imitation ivory, horn, etc., and as a concentrated food stuff.

THE WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

UNABLE TO SWAY MARKET EITHER WAY

EFFORTS TO SWAY MARKET IN EITHER DIRECTION ACCOM- PLISH LITTLE.

Strength of a Number of High Grade Industrials Give List an Appearance of Strength For a Time But Tone of Market Grows Heavy in Late Trading.

(By Associated Press)

New York, Sept. 19.—Trough the offer movements of stocks today it was impossible to trace the thread
of a predominating motive in speculation. Tentative efforts to sway the market in either direction accomplished little. Strength of the collers, the Hill stocks and a number of high grade industrials gave the list
an appearance of strength for a time
but the advances in these shares
were offset by heaviness of Union Pacific, Steel, Amalgamated and the Rock Island stocks and bonds. The tone grew heavy in the late trading,
resulting in the leveling down of the strong features and material
losses in other quarters.

Continued improvement in the investment market was indicated by the ready absorption of $10,000,000
Baltimore and Ohio 4 1/2 per cent equipment trust certificates, sold on a 5 1/2 per cent basis.

There was a firmer tendency today in money rates for the longer dates. The week's currency movements indicated that the banks had made a gain in cash. Forecasts suggested an increase in cash holdings
of $4,000,000 or $5,000,000.

STATE SCHOOL FOR DEAF HAS OPENED AT OKLAHOMA.

Prof. Frank C. Read Has Started Auspiciously in His Work in Southern State—Some of the Corps of Teachers Known Here.

The Sulphur Democrat, published at Sulphur, Okla., in a recent issue tells of the opening day of the State School for the Deaf there under the superintendency of Prof. Frank Read. The superintendent's former associates at the State School for the Deaf here will be interested in the article which is in part as follows:

"Yesterday was opening day at the School for the Deaf. When the last Frisco train arrived nearly 150 children were enrolled, which is a good showing for the first day of school.

"Promptly at 9 o'clock this morning the children were assembled in the chapel, where Superintendent Read had charge of the exercises. He made a splendid talk and it was well received by the pupils. After a brief devotional exercise the assignment of classes for the year were made and the children took up their classroom work in the annex building.

"Several faces from the corps of teachers will be greatly missed—Miss Mary D. Carter goes to Illinois in the same work, Miss Olivia Thomas goes to the Idaho school, Miss Ione Tade to be married, Mr. P. T. Hughes goes to the Missouri school, Mr. Guard S. Price goes to Gallaudet college at Washington, D. C., to better fit him for his work. Their places will be taken by Mrs. Ethel G. Perry, teacher of long experience and special training for the work; Mr. G. C. Farquhar of San Angelo, Texas, a graduate of Gallaudet college; Mrs. Sarah Small Temple, who returns to us this year after a year's absence; Miss Thirza Pearson, graduate of the A. & M. college at Stillwater, in the domestic science art; Miss S. E. Lloyd, of many years experience as an oral and manual teacher in the Texas school for the deaf; Miss Ethel Wickham, who comes to us from Gallaudet college. Supt. Read feels that the state of Oklahoma has reason to feel proud of the splendid corps of teachers, faithful and efficient, engaged in this noble work."

"Years of Experience Have Proven to Me That the MAJESTIC Range IS the Best"

"Strange, that for years, I couldn't see that trying to get good work from an old, worn-out range, merely to save the price of a new one, was not true economy. My Great Majestic has more than earned its cost in the saving of fuel alone, because the open seams and joints in my old, worn-out range where the bolts were loose and the putty had crumbled away, made me burn twice as much fuel as necessary. "Talk about luck in baking—"luck" is nothing but good oven and my Majestic oven is simply perfect. I can depend on it absolutely every day. I believe father and the children are happier and I know we have better meals at less expense with our Majestic."

Don't Buy Any Range Sight Unseen

Buying a range isn't an every day transaction. To be absolutely sure of complete satisfaction—don't buy from printed descriptions—see the Great Majestic (dealer in nearly every county in 40 states) compare it point for point with any other range. ### COMMISSION CANNOT LEGALLY PROHIBIT MIXED MATCHES

Attorney General Carmody of New York Advises Commission Against Race Discrimination.

Albany, Sept. 19.—To avoid disturbance of the peace, the State Athletic commission may prohibit sparring exhibitions between whites and colored persons but the commission should not prohibit mixed matches if its action is based solely on the question of race discrimination. Attorney General Carmody has so advised the commission.

Some time ago the commission adopted a rule prohibiting mixed matches, a rule which was questioned when efforts were made to arrange a bout between Sam Langford, colored, and Frank Moran, the commission refused to approve the proposed match and Mr. Carmody was asked to pass upon the validity of the ruling.

FUNERALS

Blackburn.

Funeral services for the late George D. Blackburn were held Friday morning at Ebenezer church where an exceedingly large company of friends gathered. The services were in charge of Rev. W. S. Phillips of Cerro Gordo, formerly pastor of Ebenezer church and a long time friend of the late Mr. Blackburn. The services began with the singing of "Rock of Ages" and the Rev. Mr. Phillips read various passages of scripture and other hymns, all of which had been selected for the occasion by the deceased, were sung.

Rev. Mr. Phillips referred to the deceased as a man who had "fought a good fight and kept the faith." He called him a "man's man" and expressed his love for him, because he was so human in his frailties and virtues. It was a notable fact in Mr. Blackburn's character that he was especially loved by children and by young people and the minister said that the estimate of worth by the young is usually instinctive.

ly correct. The value of such a life as Mr. Blackburn had lived in the community was emphasized and Mr. Phillips expressed the hope that other and younger hands would take up the duties in the church which had just been laid down after so many years of faithfulness in service. Mr. Blackburn had been identified with Ebenezer church for fifty years and at the time of his death was serving as chairman of the official board. Mr. Phillips dwelt briefly upon the beauties of the heavenly home and upon the importance which each one should attach to the need of the preparation for that life beyond the tomb.

Charles A. Rowe led in the singing of other hymns, but in the final one Mr. Phillips himself led and then closed the church service with words of earnest prayer.

From the church the cortege moved to the cemetery on a nearby hill and there Mr. Blackburn was laid away for the long rest. Rev. Mr. Phillips read the committal service and a prayer was offered by Rev. W. H. Neil of Keokuk, a nephew of the deceased. The honorary bearers were A. W. Pitzer, W. H. Harrison, J. W. Cully, John Hickman, John Bridgeman and John Savers. The bearers were Rev. W. H. Neil, Frank Masters, Ernest Walter, Fletcher Blackburn and J. W. Walton of this county and E. L. Blackburn of Del Norte, Colo., nephews of the deceased.

NATIONAL R.P.-SAW EDITOR SPEAKS ON SOCIALISM

H. G. Creel Lectures on Principles of Party to 300 Men in Central Park.

H. G. Creel, editor of the National Rip-Saw, addressed three hundred men in Central park Friday evening on the principles of socialism. His talk was especially noteworthy as it took into account both the socialistic and capitalistic viewpoints. Mr. Creel lectures on socialism and at the same time owns a farm and several blocks of Standard Oil stock. Three ways of getting something for nothing were illustrated by the speaker with a revolver, a certificate of stock in the Standard Oil Company and a deed to some land. The principal in all three, he said, were the same.

Socialism does not advocate the confiscation of land of property, said the speaker. "The alienation of land was prohibited in bible times. God commanded Moses to preserve the land for the whole people, to cause it to revert to the whole nation at the year of Jubilee. Socialism does not advocate free love, but when in full operation would make divorce and destruction of homes much more seldom than at present."

Mr. Creel compared the condition of the present day wage-slave to that of the old time chattel-slave. "Formerly the master was responsible for the health and comfort of his slaves. Now he is relieved from all this. He sits back and waits until the workers come and pay him $5.00 per day in surplus labor to each $2.00 per day wages." In short, the doctrine of socialism can be expressed in thirteen words. "The collective ownership of things collectively used, private ownership of things privately used." When the workers awake to this, child labor and other abuses will cease and the brotherhood of man will have come.
